WEALTH WEDS BEAUTY.

A dispatch from Newport, R. I., eays that final arrangements for the wedding of Aifred Gwynne Vanderbilt and Miss Elsie French will be made during the coming week, for which purpose Mr. case was given to the jury. Taey were Vanderbilt, his betrothed and Mrs. D. out fifteen minutes and brought in a O. French have just arrived there. The | verdict of no cause of action, which is general programme has been outlined, but the many minor details are yet to be declared upon, and the happy couple will spend Christmastide arranging The trio arrived at Wickford junc tion on the splendid Vanderbilt car, and an extra baggage car was required to carry the trunks and boxes and bundles they brought along. The thirteen trunks contained gowns and wraps and bonnets belonging to Mrs. French and Miss French, and the rest of the car was filled with Christmas gifts for their friends and the friends of Mr. Vanderbilt. The run from Wickford to Newport on the little steamer was enjoyed bugely by all on board, and when the boat docked, express wagons, carefully guarded, were filled to the guards with the belongings of Miss French. Mr. Vanderbilt drove to "Harbor View" with Mrs. and Miss French, and dined there, returning later to his quarters at the Muenchinger-King cottage. The party arrived at Wickford junction on board the Vanderbilt car, which will remain there until Mr. Vanderbilt desires to return to New York. The wedding will be celebrated on January 14, in the Zabriskie Memorial Church of St. John the Evangelist. The decorations will be pink and white throughout, and if practicable the chancil will be massed with roses.

Rev. Charles F. Beattie, formerly of Chelsea, Mass., will perform the cere-mony at noon. He is the rector of the church, and Mrs. French and Miss French have been members of its summer congregation since it was built several years ago. The services are of the High Church order. A number of clergymen will assist Mr. Scattle.

Miss French, the bride, will enter the church with her brother, Amos Tuck French, who will give her away. She will wear the conventional bridal cortume of rich white satin, combined with white point lace. The yoke and sleeves COLD IN HEAD sorbed.

The bridal bouquet has not, yet been decided upon, and it may be abandoned altogether and a prayer book carried, in deference to the ritualistic bedences of St. John's.

Miss Gladys Vanderbilt, sister of the bridegroom, will attend the bride as maid of honor. Miss Pauline French, Miss Elsa Bronson, Miss Isabelle Stillman and Miss Gray will be bridesmaids. These young women will wear pale gray costumes. The material is of crepe de chine. They will wear hate with plumes to correspond. Instead of carrying bouquets they will carry American Beauty roses.
